Introduction

Objectives of the dissemination activities:

- To informing the general public about the Trans2Work project, its aims, objectives and results.

Short description of activities

This dissemination activity included TV appearance of prof. dr Biljana Sladoje Bošnjak, coordination of Trans2Work project at the University of East Sarajevo, together with her colleague from the partner University of Banja Luka – prof. dr Draženko Jorgić and Vera Bošković, activist in the nongovernmental organizations. TV show named “U fokusu ” (In Focus) was held on the 1st March, 2017 at the leading national television of Republic of Srpska (RTRS) at the prime time on this television. The theme of the show was (Un)equal Chances – the status of students with disabilities.

They talked about the status of students with disabilities these days. The issues addressed were: whether or not persons with disabilities face limited access and success within their secondary and higher education, and if that later results with limited opportunities for their employment. The general theme of the show was: Do these persons have an adequate support?

Attached here are some photos from that TV show, together with the website link of RTRS where this show can be seen.
